WASHINGTON

NEITHER SENATE NOR HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES IN SESSION.

WESTERN VIRGINIA MARSHALSHIP.

General Walker in Hot Water with Respect to It-No More Appointments, Probably, for Some Time to

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9.-(Spe cial.)-Neither the Senate nor House being in session to-day, the Capitol was very dull, and the newsgatherers had to depend upon a stray senator or congressman, or the Senate Committee on cinance, which was wrestling with the tariff bill, for any information to base reports on. The attempt of the Republiis to reorganize the committees of the Senate has brought out some very interesting developments regarding the alleged continuous character of that body. Some contend that the Senate is always in existence, and that it is a never-dying body; while others argue that it expires with every Congress, just as the House does. The latter is the Republican contention, and if it prevails, it will involve a complete reorganization of all the committees. On the other hand, the Democratic steering amittee will insist on reorganization, as far as vacancies are concerned, but that every existing vacancy shall be filled by a senator of the same political faith as one whose retirement caused

The Republicans are considerably embarrassed in their efforts to proceed to the reorganization of the committees by an implied pledge made to Senator Kyle (Populist) during his canvass for re-election in South Dakota. It is claimed that Mr. Kyle was induced to co-operate with the Republicans, and that Republicans in the Legislature were induced to vote for him by the promise that, if Senator Kyle was re-elected, he should have Pettigrew's place as chairman of the Committee on Indian Affairs, and also go on the Committee on Appropriations in

No visible progress has been made to-ward carrying this pretty and pic-ture-sque deal into effect, and the two Populists who are disposed to affiliate with the Republicans in this enterprise are correspondingly disappointed. doubt is now expressed as to whether Mr. Kyle will vote with the Republicans at all; certainly not, it seems, unless the implied piedges made him in advance law office in Washington.

WALKER IN HOT WATER.

General James A. Walker is in hot water over the United States marshalfor the Western District of Virginia. It has been generally believed that he had slated Mr. Henry McCoy, of Bristol, for the place, but the appearance of ex-Congressman Henry M Bowen here has lent a new phase to the situation. Mr. Bowen, who is a very amiable gentleman, was to-day rein-forced by ex-State Senator J. S. Gilles-pie, his brother-in-law, of Tazewell county, one of the most prominent and influential Republicans in Southwest Virginia. Together, they corralled Gene-ral Walker, and the trio repaired to a room in the Metropolitan, where the marshalship and the patronage situain the State in general were ear-Brown Allen is also a candidate for

S. Brown Allen is also a candidate for this position, and he is said to have the all-powerful influence of a majority of the State Executive Committee, which makes the contest still more interesting, and it will bring into play all General Walker's well-known conversational and argumentative abilities before it is Another arrivel is ex-Republican-Congressman William E. Gaines, of Burke-ville, Nottoway county, Va. Mr. Gaines has some fond recollections of Washington, and he would like to return here but does not see his way clear. H does not want a foreign mission or a big consulate, but he would be willing to accept the superintendency of the Dead-Letter Office in the Post-Office Department. There are probably a score of applicants for this and similar places, and the influence will have to be powerful to secure any of them.

Boyce, are in the city, attending to some legal business. It seems to be settled that no more Virginia appointments will be made until after the return of the President, and perhaps not for some time to come, even then. Nevertheless, there is a strong retinue from the Ninth District still here, who hope that something may be done, and think it is well to be on the ground. As long as one applicant for a

Several changes were made in the Government Printing Office, which are taken to be forerunners of the change of all heads and foremen in that department, despite the civil service rules. The plan is to force resignations by reductions is to force resignations by reductions in position and pay. C. M. Robertson was made chief of the proof-room, vice Harold Benedict (reduced), who resigned; W. E. Shields, foreman Fourth Division reduced and he resigned; F. H. W. E. Baysie, of Gloucester, Va., who was in the Mutilated Currency Di-vision of the Treasury Department, having under the civil service rules passed most rigid examinations, was removed to-day, on charges made by all the Virginia Republican leaders of "offensive partisanship." This removal is remarked on as an outrage, and a gross violation of the civil-service law.

NORTH CAROLINA JUDGESHIP. All that Senator Pritchard would say to-day about the Eastern North Carolina judgeship was that the appointment would be made immediately on the President's return. The eastern candidates are still here, and with the exception of Judge Robinson are well and in good spirits. Judge Robinson called in a physician this morning, but he is not se riously ill.
